Louisville - In the aftermath of the sad and unfortunate passing of Councilman George Unseld, the Louisville GOP is proud to back Candace Jaworski in her race to become the next Metro Councilmember from the sixth district. Ms. Jaworski has recently been named as one of this year's Forty under 40 by Business First. A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Ms. Jaworski has been with the local advertising firm Bisig Impact Group since 2004 as an account executive and now account manager.

She has spent her entire adult career in the city of Louisville and has become very active in the community, currently serving as Chairman of the Advertising Federation of Louisville, a board member of the Friends of the Louisville Free Public Library, member of the Young Professionals Association of Louisville and even as an usher at Actors Theatre of Louisville.

Her agenda includes working to bring increased transparency to government and giving a responsible voice to the people of the district.

"I'm highly honored to be considered in this role and look forward to doing a lot of listening so I can learn more about how to help make our neighborhoods even better. We have so many things to be proud of in the sixth district and I welcome the opportunity to represent everyone that lives in this historic metro council district."
